About Me

I'm a growth-oriented full-stack developer with an enthusiasm for well-crafted software. I understand quality is complex, and aim to deliver the highest value to all stakeholders. I place a huge emphasis on learning and love to continually challenge my existing capabilities.

Looking For

I'm looking for a team-oriented role that will push me out of my comfort zone and encourage me to learn. I would love the opportunity to work with people that value modern software engineering practices and care deeply about the web and product quality.
